Ohio Renaissance Festival performer to make Guinness World Record attempt

HARVEYSBURG, Ohio (September 23, 2019). . . Ohio Renaissance Festival goers are encouraged to witness a Guinness World Record attempt this Sunday, September 29. Casey Martin of the performing duo the KamiKaze FireFlies will attempt to break her own world record for the most flaming hula hoops on the body. This historic record-breaking attempt will take place during the duo's last show of the day at 4:45pm on the KamiKaze FireFlies stage.

Martin's current record is four flaming hula hoops on the body. On September 29 she will go for five, totaling 20 blazing torch heads spinning around her at one time. Guinness sets strict guidelines and evidence requirements for record attempts. An application, experts to sign off on the attempt, slow motion video, close-ups of the blazing torch heads, witnesses, and so on. The more documentation Martin can provide, the better her chances of getting the record-breaking attempt verified and becoming the new record holder.

September 29 just happens to be day two of the Ohio Renaissance Festival's 30th Birthday Bash. Special ticket prices are available online – 2 adults for $30 and 2 children for $10 – for Saturday and Sunday admission. Saturday, September 28 will feature a free after-party starting at 7pm with appetizers, entertainment and ending the evening with a Rozzi's Fireworks display at 9:15pm.

The 30th annual Ohio Renaissance Festival runs Saturdays, Sundays, and Labor Day Monday for nine weekends, August 31 through October 27. Located on State Route 73 in Warren County, just 2 miles west of I-71 or 15 miles east of I-75, the festival is within an hour's drive from Cincinnati, Dayton and Columbus. Tickets and more information can be found at www.renfestival.com.

The Ohio Renaissance Festival is produced by Brimstone & Fire, LLC and held at Renaissance Park Event Center. For more information, please visit www.renparkusa.com.
